Westbank-Peachland Section Needs Rebuilding Now

One disappointing item of the recent visit to his home riding by Premier Bennett was the complete absence of any comment on the section of Highway 97 between Power's Creek and Peachland.

It is no secret that this section of the highway has engaged the attention of the department for some years. It was not rebuilt as was the rest of the highway between Kelowna and Peachland. The result is that it is narrow and several bad and unnecessary corners remain. In addition the present pavement is breaking seriously.

Some four years ago this newspaper was told by the then deputy minister of highways that scheduled for that year was the rerouting of that section immediately south of Trepanier. The straight stretch through Trepanier would be extended in a more or less straight line until it rejoined the present route very close to the entrance to Peachland. This would eliminate several bad curves. The work, however, was not undertaken that year; nor has it been since.

Later there has been a revival of speculation that this section when rebuilt would bypass Trepanier or Drought's Hill, keeping to a higher level right to Peachland. There have even been suggestions that the road would be a high level one right from Power's Creek to the Antlers, passing Peachland to the west.

This high level road was first planned by the department about 1940. At that time the then local MLA, C. R. Bull, with support argued for the rebuilding of the hill itself because of the view, and won his point.

If definite plans have been formulated, the highways department have not announced them. But this does not alter the fact that this section of 97 demands immediate attention. If the highway is to be rerouted, work should be commenced, because by the time it is finished, the present highway's surface will have gone with the wind.

If no definite plans for rerouting have been made then the department should immediately implement its plans for cutting through the hill at Trepanier Creek and eliminating the present three dangerous curves. It should, too, cut down some of the corners between Trepanier and Power's Creek and resurface the whole stretch.

The surface of this section, thin at the best, deteriorated seriously during the past winter. No modern highway should have the curves this section has both on the hill and along by Drought's lakes, or sloughs. Certainly those curves near Trepanier Creek have no place on a modern highway and should be eliminated at once.

This section of 97 and that immediately north of Kelowna are the only unrebuilt sections in the Okanagan. It is time they, too, were modernized, because they carry as heavy, or heavier traffic than any other section. This applies particularly to the section between Power's Creek and Peachland.

Foreign Ministers' Opinions On Eve Of Vital Conference

Foreign ministers from East and West meet Monday in Geneva to discuss Berlin, German reunification and security in Central Europe. Here are the opinions, fears and hopes of the foreign ministers of the big powers, as reported by Associated Press correspondents in the major capitals.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Christian A. Herter holds little hope that Soviet Russia will be prepared to negotiate seriously at the Geneva conference for a settlement of divided Germany's future.

The first purpose of the Western powers, the American secretary believes, must be to find out whether there is any chance whatever for negotiations. Herter believes that while hope is slight, the chance has not been eliminated entirely.

His attitude, as known to intimates in Washington, reflects a division of opinion about Soviet purposes within the United States government and among the Western Allies.

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko probably is thinking along these lines on the eve of the foreign ministers' conference: What a conference this is going to be!

A new United States secretary of state whose tactics I don't know for sure; a new French foreign minister perhaps wedded to de Gaulle's ideas of the grandeur of France; a British foreign secretary with one eye on the Americans and one eye on the British electorate; and West Germans who have nothing to gain by being soft and everything to gain by being tough.

It won't be good for the ulcers, especially mine. One thing is certain: I must get an agreement on a quick summit conference. The boss won't settle for less.

The British will help there. They must have one, too. Prime Minister Macmillan couldn't face an election without it.

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Years of observing British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in public and in private show this is how he probably would "think aloud" about the foreign ministers' conference: What a pity we must start with problems as tough as Berlin, Germany, European security!

Yet I shall be happy if we merely narrow our differences on these things and work out a basis on which our chiefs of government could negotiate later.

But we shall have to be careful. Gromyko may mistake British flexibility for infirmity. Herter's realism could become rigidity.

The price of an agreement? Perhaps we'll eventually have to give up the idea of "liberating" East Europe; to postpone the reunification of Germany.

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

PARIS (AP) — In French thinking, there is a compelling necessity to make certain that Western unity and firmness of purpose is a tangible, living thing and not the diplomatic cant of a conference table.

fundamental theme: Strength and unity.

Any attempt to neutralize Germany would be catastrophic. Britain's leaders have leaned toward the flexible position. Surely they must realize that flexibility when dealing with the Soviet Union almost inevitably means concession to a point of danger.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BONN (AP) — The two rival German delegations go to Geneva only in advisory roles. Bonn's Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano has indicated that if his East German opposite number, Lothar Bolz, sits down at the conference table, von Brentano will refuse to give the Communist recognition by sitting with him.

In this case, von Brentano's representative at the table will be the West German ambassador to the United States, Wilhelm Grewe. Von Brentano possibly will stay in his hotel room. As they proceed, von Brentano may think: Khrushchev has made it plain time and again that the Russians won't agree to reunification of Germany. They want its division accepted as a reality.

But we can't accept that. We must have reunification on our terms. We have agreed with our Western allies to offer the Russians a deal—a step-by-step program toward reunification in exchange for some sort of limited military security and inspection arrangement in central Europe.

The German delegation is not optimistic that Gromyko will accept this deal.

OTTAWA REPORT

Writer Makes Trivia Pay Off

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

OTTAWA—Ottawa's own Austin Cross has become the first working member of the Ottawa Press Gallery to be honored with an honorary life membership, under a new rule extending this privilege to any member of 25 years' standing. Previously, it has been reserved for governors-general, retired writers and such like distinguished persons.

Austin has made himself the press gallery's writer with a difference. He specializes in chit-chat about VIPs of all types; or, as he himself puts it, about the trivial side of Ottawa. His personal views and often controversial predictions appear in publications in six provinces.

His hard-core chore is his daily column, "Cross Town" in the Ottawa "Citizen", in which he has described for 14 years the interesting homey happenings which miss the headlines. More widely followed is his column under the byline "Tempus" in the Financial Times. Another disguise which but thinly veils his inimitable style is "Scrutator" in Mayfair Magazine, describing the diplomatic and non-political life of Ottawa after hours on the tax-free gin circuit. He writes "Ottawa Notebook" in the Monetary Times, and contributes to Western Business as well as to newspapers in P.E.I., N.S., N.B., Quebec, Ontario and B.C.

PRO-GRIT—SOMETIMES

"I generally favor the Liberals in my comments, but the Liberals don't think so," is Austin's political confession. And he adds: "But I have been frank enough to queer myself with both big parties, so I don't expect a job from either."

He rounds out his exceptionally busy life by broadcasting on private stations, and he always covers the ballot-counting for every federal, provincial and municipal election or by-election on Ottawa's CKOY.

Austin Fletcher Cross was born in Ottawa 61 years ago, the son of dentist Milton Fletcher Cross. Austin's son is also named Fletcher, after the amanuensis of John Wesley—for the Cross family are Methodists.

Austin's mother was the daughter of a Methodist minister, and he jokes about her typically wandering life as a minister's daughter: "Born in Meaford, courted in Uxbridge and married at Yarker."

In 1923 he took up journalism, and has been a member of the press gallery here under five prime ministerships.

KNUT BUT NO NUT

Austin moves through his journalistic career with what many of his colleagues consider an aloof disdain, but which his old friends know is the preoccupation of his split-second adherence to his timetable. He assesses each job by its dollar tag, and devotes time to it accordingly—very wise. By this method, he manages to keep all his balls in the air at the same time, working like a dog for 11 months of the year but able to afford a millionaire's life for the twelfth.

Last year he spent his holiday as usual, travelling. Although perhaps Canada's greatest railroad fan, that time he flew, visiting five Iron Curtain capitals: Budapest (excellent hotel at $4 a day); Bucharest (dirt mignon dirt cheap); Warsaw, Prague and East Berlin.

Paying the $2,000 price tag for that junket himself, he saw the famous Polish art treasures at Cracow for the third time. He first saw them in the Wawel Museum in 1938; then in 1947 the Polish minister in Ottawa arranged a special private view of them for him, in the vaults of the Bank of Montreal.

Strangely enough, the writer who specializes in trivia about diplomats was never asked to write about trivia in five Red capitals. Instead, his editors feed their readers mundanity on capital at a time. "It's a bore," as they say in "Gigi"—compared to what Cross would have given us.

Cross, the man with the flair for the debonair, can always strike the right colorful note, whether with his new grey "Derby" hat, his bright vests, or his provocative topics. He has made trivia pay off, and has reached the big time through it. For surely one is big time when one gets licence B-50000 for one's Buick; and very big time when one's phone number 2-3000 is changed to equally spectral 3-6000 when a change is necessary.

That's Cross!

Sons Unwanted Elsewhere?

A great many hopeful Canadians, including some in official positions, are nursing regrets for time and effort wasted.

As will be remembered, a while back the Sons of Freedom branch of the Doukhobor sect professed to be eager to seek and obtain the freedom they craved in—Mother Russia, the land from whence their ancestors came.

So Canada went to great efforts to facilitate the return. A few months ago some 2,500 of the Sons reported themselves anxious to leave Canada, and it was reported that the Soviet Union was ready and willing to receive them.

Now, it seems, the Sons of Freedom have changed their minds, and want to stay in Canada.

Part of their motivation seems to have been that the Russians, perhaps after checking their value as potential settlers, refused any real assurance that they would be given homes in the USSR.

So, after all, they are still Canada's headache.

The time may be opportune for Canada, for which the Sons of Freedom have made no end of trouble, to lay down the law clearly, and emphasize that, so far as concerns this turbulent group, the law will be enforced to the letter—and the limit.

The great majority of the Doukhobor sect have gladly accepted the freedom which Canada offers, and the reasonable responsibilities which citizenship entails.

Only the Sons of Freedom—a group of approximately 3,000—claim persecution under Canadian laws.

Canada should make it perfectly clear that if these people are to remain in this country—and it should be emphasized that the choice is theirs—they must be prepared to accept the responsibilities of citizenship. Granted that these responsibilities bring restrictions upon individual action, that is to be expected in any well-ordered society.

The Sons of Freedom, for instance, oppose state education, claiming that Canadian schools teach militarism. Obviously, sectional views must always be secondary to the national interest.

And far those who support the pacifist view, there are many Canadians who claim that the school system is not sufficiently militarist.

Canada's way is to establish a pattern that will please the majority.

The Sons of Freedom should be required to conform. Otherwise, they should be advised that they are free to go where they like, provided another nation would be sufficiently tolerant to receive them.

In view of their record in Canada, we doubt that anyone else would want to receive them.—Chatham (Ont.) Daily News.

Isn't it remarkable that we achieved and are maintaining a high level of prosperity through the simple expedient of charging one another too much for goods and services?

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Liberals Hope By-Elections Indicate Great Resurgence

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

LONDON—The British Liberal party leaders believe that it is on the eve of a great resurgence, and that in due time it will replace the Socialist party as an opposition capable of taking over the government of this country.

Joseph Grimond, the Liberal party leader, in addressing a Liberal Youth Congress, is based to some extent on the remarkable showing which Liberal candidates have made in by-elections in the last year or two.

Mr. Grimond preached the Liberal faith in their future in these words:

"We believe that in some parts of the country Liberals are in the majority now, and that throughout the country a radical progressive party of the type we are creating would soon attract more than half the people. What we are really out to do is to create a new party based on Liberal principles which will satisfy the strain of Socialist idealism which is being smothered in the present Labor party."

208 CANDIDATES

While there has been quite a surge of support to the Liberal cause in the by-elections of the last year or two, the return of the party as a powerful force in the House of Commons seems a long way off. So far, the Liberals have adopted 208 prospective candidates for the next general election. This means that it is almost only about one-third of the country's constituencies.

Japan in 1959.

It may make some gains in its number of seats, but nothing like enough to become the official opposition.

Since the Liberals gained a seat from the government at Torrington, their candidates have pushed the Socialists into third place at three by-elections. (Argyll, Southend West and Galloway), and came within a narrow margin of doing the same thing at Weston-Super-Mare and Aberdeenshire East.

In these constituencies, Mr. Grimond's aim to replace the Socialists as the effective opposition might bear revision.

LABOR'S VIEWPOINT

Strange to say, in the light of these results, the Socialists have been inclined to welcome Liberal intervention in constituencies. They have always held that the Liberals take at least two votes from the Tories for every vote they take from the Socialists. In the light of the by-elections of the last 12 months, this estimate might bear revision.

Large Kelowna Contingent Attends Sicamous Gavel-Passing Ceremony

The travelling gavel of the Canadian Legion passed from the Oyama to the Sicamous branch in great style Friday night. A contingent of 40, representing Branch 26, Kelowna, helped swell the number of veterans and their wives that filled the community hall in Sicamous to overflowing. The only sombre note in the proceedings was the news that P. F. "Freddie" Hilborn, deputy zone commander of the Legion, lay at death's door as the result of a car accident Thursday night. His wife, hurt in the same accident, is still on the critical list. Mr. Hilborn has since died. "We feel that Freddie would want it this way," said Kelowna president Percy Maundrell, in acknowledging the tribute paid to Hilborn by Oyama president Fred Baker.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING Mr. Baker formally presented the gavel, a token of inter-branch friendship, to Bob Ylsto, president of the Sicamous branch. The gavel-passing ceremony, designed to create better understanding between the various branches in the zone, set the stage for an evening of fun and dancing. A clever skit on the relative merits of the British and U.S. soldier in picking up women, put on by the Kelowna branch at the Vimy dinner recently, was a big hit Friday night in a re-run. Lead parts are played by Charlie Dixey and Glen Mills, with Mrs. Dixey and Margaret Edwards playing the female roles. The skit, written by Tom Marsh of Kelowna, drew some uproarious laughter from the veterans in the audience, especially through the Cockney accents of Mr. and Mrs. Dixey. A troupe of women from the host branch put on several numbers, including "Doing What Comes Naturally." Cleverly costumed and showing the results of plenty of rehearsing, they brought the house down with their musical number. Refreshments and lunch, followed by an evening of dancing, wound up the enjoyable evening.

McKINLEY EXPLOSION

Bojey Bomb Trial Starts In Vernon Assizes Today

Trial of Harry Bojey, 19, on a charge of making an explosive substance with intent to cause property damage, started in the assize court at Vernon today. Bojey was committed for trial after a lengthy preliminary hearing here last fall. He was found near McKinley Landing, August 16, in critical condition, three days after an explosion that took the life of Phillip Perceveroff, 20. Bojey's face was terribly scarred and his sight all but destroyed. He has been on bail and living with relatives in the Kootenays since the preliminary hearing. Today's trial is the second one in the Vernon assizes concerning explosives.

Friday, Sam Konkin, 29, was sentenced to two years after he was convicted on two of five bomb conspiracy charges. That was the second trial for Konkin. Last November an assize court jury failed to reach a verdict and a new trial was ordered. But the same jury did convict Sam's brother, Alex, who subsequently was given a two-year sentence.

Anglican Youth Meeting Here This Weekend More than 100 out-of-town guests are expected here for the annual conference of Anglican Young People's Associations of the Kootenay Diocese. The party will be held May 16 to 18 in the Anglican Parish Hall.

Rev. J. C. Bothwell of Oakville, Ont. will be the main speaker at the meeting, the theme of which will be "Youth Advances." Bishop A. H. Sovereign of Vernon will also give an address to the group.

The gathering will stage a banquet at 6 p.m. Saturday, May 16, in the parish hall. Business at the meeting will include the setting up of an executive for the association. The co-ordinating committee was established at the convention last year in Trail. Provincial executive of the body is also expected to attend.

Mammoth Dinner Ushers In $250,000 Parish Drive

Largest dinner for any parish or church congregation in Kelowna's history last night heralded the beginning of a general canvass among Catholics of the Immaculate Conception parish here.

The occasion was the "loyalty" dinner at the Aquatic, where close to 900 persons were seated and where the purposes and objectives of the financial drive were explained.

Another record was established last night, too, for it was the largest gathering of Catholic parishioners under one roof in the parish's history.

Speakers looked over a sea of faces as they explained the reasons for the parishioners being there and how the aims can be achieved.

During the general canvass starting today, every parishioner will be asked to make a sacrificial pledge over a three-year period.

Speakers at last night's mammoth dinner included Very P. V. R. D. Anderson, parish administrator during the absence on sick leave of the pastor, Rt. Rev. W. B. McKenzie, D.P.; Rev. F. Quinn, OMI, Penticton, representing the bishop, Most Rev. W. E. Doyle; J. J. Capozzi, Dr. M. J. Butler; J. W. Bedford; Leo Douillard and D. J. Lang.

Nearly 100 hostesses had assured a record attendance by personally contacting each parishioner and inviting him or her to the loyalty dinner.

Chairman of the dinner was John Olinger, who also is the general chairman of the financial drive and campaign committee. Honorary chairman of the campaign include L. J. Brazier, E. Seguin, P. Capozzi and J. Casorso.

TELEGRAM APPLAUDED Thunderous applause went up when a telegram of encouragement was read from Msgr. Mc-also Glenmore and Bankhead; Kenzie, at present undergoing $100,000 for a new church on treatment and care at St. Paul's Hospital in Vancouver.

Of the $250,000 objective, $50,000, Sutherland Ave., and $100,000 for 000 is earmarked for a new the founding of a Catholic high church in the north end, to serve school.

CADETS INSPECTED VERNON — Lt. Col. H. K. Clarke, officer commanding the 9th Recce Regiment, B.C. Dragoons, inspected No. 903 "A" Squadron, B.C. Dragoons Cadet Corps this week. Most outstanding cadet, second year training, was L. Cpl. G. Wainwright; most outstanding cadet, first year training, Cadet Hayhurst. Several cadets received awards for perfect attendance.

WILL SPEAK HERE Guest speaker at the May 20 quarterly meeting of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health at Kelowna City Hall will be Dr. J. S. Tyhurst of UBC's department of psychiatry, faculty of medicine.

ELECTED PRESIDENT SUMMERLAND — Walter Powell has been named new president of the Summerland Co-operative Growers Association packinghouse. Vice-president is Eric Tait.

LOWER MILL RATE NORTH KAMLOOPS — Mill rate for 1959 at North Kamloops has been set at 37 mills, seven mills less than last year.

FLOATING STATION VICTORIA (CP) — A fully-equipped 100-foot barge turned into a floating oil service station will supply small logging operations on the British Columbia coast. It will make regular calls on camps in the Georgia Straits area and as far north as the tip of Vancouver Island.

Egg Price Stays At 44 Cents

The present price of 44 cents a dozen for grade "A" large eggs delivered to Montreal is to continue in effect until May 5 1960.

This was announced by Douglas E. Harkness, minister of agriculture in Ottawa. He said the many countries in the world developing larger surpluses of shell eggs created for the Canadian stabilization board, "an extremely serious problem."

Mr. Harkness states he now plans a price support program based on a "deficiency payment" to producers.

The system is based on the difference between the actual market price for shell eggs for the period concerned and the prescribed support price.

The minister also assured the House of Commons "every effort will be made to have an alternative plan ready to put into operation at the earliest possible date."

Winfield Blood Clinic Raises Half Of Quota

WINFIELD — Red Cross blood donor clinic was held in Memorial Hall Friday. There were 121 donors of which 89 came from Winfield.

The system is based on the difference between the actual market price for shell eggs for the period concerned and the prescribed support price.

The minister also assured the House of Commons "every effort will be made to have an alternative plan ready to put into operation at the earliest possible date."

There were 20 rejects so 101 pints of blood was received. The quota was 200 pints.

Mrs. F. Sommerville convener of the clinic, thought that the fact that "flu is prevalent in the district was the answer to the lower attendance at this clinic.

B.C. Hospital Benefits May Be Extended

OTTAWA (CP) — The British Columbia government is expected to bring in amendments short-ly that will extend hospital insurance benefits to residents who have to leave the province temporarily. Health Minister Month said.

He was replying to W. Harold Hicks (P.C.—Fraser Valley) who had asked him to amend federal Ind. Acc. Corp. hospital insurance regulations so that Mr. Hicks and other MPs' Kelly Wts. be away from home more than three months at a time and still receive protection.

Under the amendments, "an Ok. Helicopters insured person temporarily absent from B.C. will be eligible for a total of three months' hospitalization benefits during the year following his departure (Taylor, P. and C. from the province."

Summit Parley To Be Planned

The future of the ten-year-old Okanagan Senior Hockey League may rest with a "summit conference".

Yesterday, the directors of the B.C. senior "A" league that has produced more champions per year of operation than any other league in Canada resolved at their annual meeting in Penticton:

"We go on record that we have left this meeting convinced that there will be senior "A" hockey in the Okanagan Valley next year—PROVIDING that we have the whole-hearted support of the city fathers, the boards of trade and arena commissioners of the four cities."

UNANIMOUS MOTION

This motion was passed unanimously by all the league delegates, as one of the first pieces of business under the newly-elected president, Bob Gilhooly of Kelowna. Retiring president, H. A. "Bill" Nicholson of Penticton, was moved a vote of thanks for his two years' service to the league.

In their reports, both Mr. Nicholson and the league referee-in-chief Cliff Greyell said that last year had been entirely successful from the point of view of operation, and pointed out that they have seven "home brew" refs now, to begin next year's operation with.

Two Kelowna arena commissioners, F. G. "Chick" Barlee and Wally Bennett, were welcomed to the meeting, and agreed with the resolution for a summit conference, to include the mayors of the four cities, heads of the trade boards, arena commissioners, Jay Cees and heads of service organizations if possible. Each delegation was directed to press for such a conference with the men concerned.

ONLY SALVATION

Proposed by Vernon's manager-coach, George Agar, the motion seemed to express the feelings of all the delegates, who agreed that the salvation of the financially depressed league lay in obtaining the fullest support of the fans in each city, through

- 1) Shorten length of schedule.
- 2) Eliminate one team from play-offs.
- 3) A round-robin for play-offs, with points given for order of finishing league play.
- 4) Lower salary schedule, and if possible, set a ceiling for the league to abide by.

5) Have a referee's school sent in by BCAHA.

The club delegates, asked by Mr. Gilhooly to indicate their position with regards to operating next year, prior to passing the resolution to seek support of the various cities, were mixed in their feelings.

Golden Owls Win Track Meet

PENTICTON (CP)—Two records were broken Saturday in the 13th annual Kinsmen track meet which opened the school track season here.

Jean Czudnal of Penticton clipped one second off the senior girls' 75-yard dash record and Rena Imthorn of Vernon topped the intermediate girls' high jump record by an inch when she jumped 4 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Kelowna Golden Owls walked off overall winner of the meet with 124 points. Penticton was second with 101 and Vernon third with 96. Also at the meet were teams from Summerland, Keremeos and Oliver-Osoyoos.

STAINES, England (CP)—The owner of a liquor store in this Middlesex town marked his shop's 25th anniversary by holding a "testing week," inviting customers to sample his wines.

Dr. George Smith, speaking for Kamloops, was emphatic in stating that Kamloops would be in; Bob Giordano, Kelowna, was less emphatic, but said "yes"; Agar, Vernon, said they would like to operate, but felt a revision of operation was necessary; Tony Biollo, Penticton, was non-committal, stating that they were badly in the hole, but would certainly like to operate, if possible.

None of the team delegates were able to say with certainty what the reaction of their fans would be toward next year's operation, since no annual meetings have been held, but both Penticton and Kelowna have slated meetings for next week. In Kelowna, it is Thursday, May 14, at 7:30 in the Aquatic lounge.

All clubs agreed to have their annual meetings over before the next league meeting, on Sunday, June 7, and to contact their civic authorities and other interested parties before that time, bringing some indication of feeling in their communities to the meeting.

JOIN 5-PIN ASSOCIATION

Bowling Future Is Assured

Bowling in Kelowna wound up its most successful year in history this year, said retiring Thursday Mixed League president Jim Kitaura at the annual banquet of two leagues in the Canadian Legion hall Saturday night.

Kitaura, thrice president of the Thursday league, declined to run for office again, saying that he wished other men to have experience at the post.

He confirmed the big step the Orchard City has taken recently, in becoming a member of the B.C. Five Pin Association, with Sui Koga as the local president.

PERFECT GAME

As a year's highlight, he mentioned the perfect game rolled by Mits Koga on Feb. 18, 1959, the first one ever rolled in league play in Kelowna.

Cec "Bud" Favell accepted the unanimous vote of the club to succeed Kitaura as president, "if you'll do the talking for me." Kay Braden was named vice-president and Gerda Perron secretary-treasurer. Bill Pearson was named to the newly-made post of convener, and Lou Matsuda was unanimously returned as statistician.

Jack Travis, president of the men's league, joined with Kitaura in praising the work done by Hank Langlet in his first year as manager of the Bowladrome, saying that his co-operation had made possible the successes of the leagues, and made the affiliation with the provincial body a reality.

BIG STEP

Bill Jurome, captain of the Jurome Orchards team, the men's league champions, said he felt that the new association with the five-pin organization was the biggest step taken in the city in the history of bowling. The move will make possible entering in the western Canadian competitions in Calgary this year.

"And we have some of the nicest bowlers in the country, right here in the city," he said. "With any kind of a break they will bring home some trophies."

Following an excellent turkey dinner with all the trimmings, catered by the ladies of the Legion auxiliary, the awards of prizes and trophies concluded the evening's business, and the dancing rounded out the evening.

Here are the trophy and prize winners:

MIXED LEAGUE

Roll-offs—Lucky Lagers, Cec Favell, captain.
Consolation roll-off—Johnny's 229.

Barbers, Gerda Perron, captain. This was the first year for this trophy.

Hotspurs Breeze To Shut Out Win

The wind had the soccer ball doing tricks in City Park Oval yesterday, but they worked in favor of the Hotspurs, as they downed the speedy Cache Creek XI, 2-0, on goals by centre John Wiebe.

Only on three occasions did the northerners come close to scoring in the important match, which gives Kelowna a chance to move into a first-place tie by beating the Revelstoke Internationals next Sunday.

BROKE THE ICE

John Wiebe broke the ice for the "Spurs" five minutes after the second half started, taking Fred Heinzelman's pass for the score, and the locals caught fire, storming in on Cache Creek's lithe young defender but failing to find the mark. Three bad clearing plays by Turk threatened to even up the score, but Cache Creek failed to capitalize. It was Wiebe again, rapping in the ball from a goal mouth scramble to clinch the score with one minute to go, and it was all over but the shouting.

Coach Bob McKinstry praised fullbacks Peter Bulatovitch and Jack Lomas, and forwards Wendell Turk, Henry Haas and Wiebe for their play, but said he was still unhappy with the general hustle.

"We need more snap in that forward line," he said, indicating that he intends to look at some younger players to try to obtain it.

TOP MAN ON THE TOTAL POLE

A total of more than $130,000,000 was spent for advertising last year by national product advertisers . . . and a third of it was spent in daily newspapers. $43,527,193 to be exact.

That's more money in newspapers than ever before . . . more than in any other medium . . . more than in TV, radio, outdoor and transit combined. And 1956 wasn't unusual.

Every year, newspapers are on top of the total pole. The reason is simple. For results, newspapers can't be topped. Use the daily newspaper as your basic advertising medium. Most advertisers do. The final for 1956:

Daily Newspapers $43,527,193
Television . . . $21,445,000 | Outdoor . . . 3,172,000
Radio . . . 13,690,000 | Transit . . . 3,644,000

P.S. Canadian retailers invest 82% of their advertising budgets in newspapers . . . for results' sake.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

PAINTING CANVAS

QUESTION: Is it possible to paint the canvas on a yacht and a steamer?

ANSWER: Use any high-quality deck paint or enamel. Be sure surface is free of all traces of grease and dirt before applying paint.

REMOVING VARNISH

QUESTION: While varnishing our new home, varnish was tracked over our tile floor. I tried in vain cleaning it with turpentine. My wife has been trying to eradicate the stains with steel wool. But there are still dark smudges and spots. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: Try wiping the stains with alcohol or gasoline, being careful of fire hazard.

OIL STAIN ON DRIVEWAY

QUESTION: How can I remove an oil stain on a concrete driveway? I have used a compound from a garage, but it just absorbs the oil on the surface and doesn't remove the stain.

ANSWER: Make a paste of dry Portland cement, moistened with benzene. Spread this in a thick layer over the stain. Then cover with glass or metal or canvas to check evaporation. As the paste dries, replace it with fresh material until stain has disappeared. Complete removal may require a week or longer.

VIBRATING FLOOR

QUESTION: How can I solve the problem of the floor vibrating whenever anyone walks across the room?

ANSWER: It sounds as though the floor needs more bracing, also called cross-bracing. This is simply a bracing between the floor joists, which is put in diagonally between each joist. At a good many hardware stores and building supply houses, you can get aluminum cross bridging all ready for "do-it-yourself" installing. Another cause of the vibrating might be that the joists themselves are not large enough. I recommend asking a building contractor to inspect the floor construction. Get his opinion on how far apart the cross-bracing should be installed, and whether or not the joists themselves are undersized. From your description, it doesn't sound as though the treatments for squeaking floors would be sufficient.

REMOVING PAINT

QUESTION: I recently received an old post lamp head made of brass and finished in black. How can I remove the paint? I started by using a power wheel and fine emery wheel, but can't get into all the scroll work.

ANSWER: Use a prepared paint remover, available at paint and hardware stores. Steel wool will often get into scroll work; or use a liquid remover and a fine brush to get into inaccessible places.

ELIMINATING NOISE

QUESTION: Our house has been converted into two apartments, first and second floors. We are annoyed by the sounds from the second floor, such as walking, talking, etc. What can be done to eliminate these noises?

ANSWER: Putting down a floor covering upstairs that is sound-absorbing would help; there is a resilient floor tile for this purpose now available (consult your floor covering dealer) or using a heavy carpeting. Acoustical tile applied to the ceiling below might also be effective. If the first floor ceiling is high enough, building a false ceiling, applied to furring strips four inches below the present ceiling and out of contact with it, would be one of the most effective soundproofing methods.

LAYING CORK TILE FLOOR

QUESTION: I plan on laying cork tile over physcore (new installation). What is the best method of doing this?

ANSWER: Manufacturer's instructions, available from tile dealer, should be followed carefully. A felt lining is necessary, bonded with linoleum paste to the tile.

COFFEE SPILL ON RUG

QUESTION: Several days ago I spilled coffee on our gray living room rug. Coffee only contained sugar. I have been unsuccessful in getting spot out; it has turned quite brown. What can I do?

ANSWER: You fail to mention material of which rug is made; if this is a synthetic fibre, these are sometimes permanently affected by staining not immediately removed. Try rubbing stain with glycerin; after about an hour, sponge glycerin off with clear water. To remove any remaining stain, use nonflammable liquid spot remover.

WOODEN ORNAMENTS

QUESTION: I'm making wooden ornaments and would like to know if there's anything I can put on after I finish painting them to keep them from fading and looking weatherbeaten after a short time outdoors.

ANSWER: Apply a coat of top quality spar or marine varnish. If paint surface has a high gloss,

CUTTING MARBLE

QUESTION: Is there any way to cut marble? Can you cut it with a hack saw?

ANSWER: I'm afraid a hack saw would be ineffective. This is a job requiring skilled handling and special cutting equipment. Consult your classified telephone directory for a marble dealer or monument yard.

REMOVING COATS OF WAX

QUESTION: I have several coats of wax on my knotty pine bedroom floors. How can I remove the wax without removing the varnish?

ANSWER: A wax - removing and floor cleaning preparation is made by a nationally known manufacturer of wax. It is available at most housewares and hardware dealers. Turpentine is often pretty good too.

SALT DAMAGE TO CONCRETE

QUESTION: Our concrete driveway is beginning to get pitted from slush containing salt melting on it. Is there any way to prevent this damage?

ANSWER: A mixture of one part boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine, warmed for about 20 minutes in a pan of boiling water (be careful of fire hazard and do not heat mixture over open flame), and applied with a mop or brush to the concrete surface will give an almost colorless protective film to the driveway. Two coats should be applied, allowing eight hours between applications for thorough drying of the first coat. This treatment should be applied when temperature is above 50 degrees, Fahrenheit.

CLOGGED DRAIN PIPE

QUESTION: We are living in a hard water area but have a water-softening service. Periodically we have trouble with a clogged drain. I am very careful what goes down the drain, although I make my own soap. Do you think that could be a contributing factor?

ANSWER: I doubt if the amount of homemade soap could be the entire cause of the clogging, although it is pretty fat and used frequently, it is possible. Have you had the traps under the kitchen sink and the grease trap where the drain leaves the house cleaned recently? These are frequently the culprits in such cases. Periodic use of drain-cleaning compounds will also keep the pipes clear.

CONTRACTION FOR HEAT

QUESTION: We own a large camp cabin with a fireplace. Our friends suggested a way to increase the heat from the fireplace. We would appreciate your opinion. They suggest we place copper coils in upper part of fireplace, connected to a small tank; use a water pump to circulate hot water to an automobile radiator with fan attached, placed near ceiling of room.

ANSWER: Sounds ingenious, and as far as the idea is concerned if sufficient heat is supplied to heat the coil for long enough time, could conceivably give out extra heat. Basic difficulty, however, in my opinion, is that large

SUN AND SEA

By TRACY ADRIAN

This handsome costume is designed for active swimmers as well as patio loungers. It is a two-piece outfit consisting of a bathing suit and a removable skirt.

The suit is done in a print of summer flowers in gray, brown or blue textured cotton. It is cut on princess lines and has a built-in bra which can be worn with or without straps. Over it is a graceful, wrap-around skirt in matching fabric.

Silk Screen Prints Aply Display Method

The present exhibition of serigraphs from the National Gallery at Ottawa by Montreal artists in the board room of the Okanagan Regional Library will be of interest to anyone who has taken up work with the silk screen.

There are 11 prints by Jean-Paul Beaudin, showing the process from start to finish. The other prints, though named, appear to be designs for material. Suggested, as the names tell us, by various aspects of nature.

This method of producing prints originated in another form in Java and Japan, where some exquisite examples of all were the result.

However, the exhibition is of educational interest, and speaks for itself, though many who visit it may remain dumb.

GLENMORE

GLENMORE — Two young Glenmore students were among those who won honors in the recent music festival at Vernon. Greta Rojem was highest in the class of violin solo under 20 years, gaining a mark of 88.

Nona Pearson received the Wyatt cup for a mark of 87 in solo dancing, and was also the winner of the National Hotel scholarship of $25 for the highest mark in ballet.

The community can be very proud of these two promising young artists.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carew have their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Carew visiting from Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Gibbard have left for Regina where Mr. Gibbard has been transferred.

TEEN-AGE DESIGNER NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Ping G. Jackman, 17, of Delbrook senior high school here, has been elected to an international teen-agers' fashion board because "she has reached outstanding achievement in her clothing and classwork."

She says her ambition is to become a fashion designer.

Child's Selfishness Surmounted By Parents' Actions — Not Words

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

A mother from Ohio writes: "My older daughter, ten, is becoming more self-centered, sarcastic and miserable each day. She has a bright mind—to the extent that the school authorities gave her a series of tests—but her lack of neatness and disinterest in arithmetic kept her from being transferred to a school for 'gifted children'."

FINE READER

"She reads exceptionally well and takes great interest in her piano lessons. She has been taking music lessons for a year and is doing very well."

"Her favorite adjectives and adverbs are stupid, dumb, goofy, and similar derogatory words. A couple of times she has upset me so I cried and that affected her. She cried and begged me not to cry. But I don't want to control a child with tears."

"We are an affectionate family, so we can't understand her jealousy of the world in general."

NECESSITY TO CONFORM

My reply in part:

No doubt your daughter is bored by a good many things at school. Yet, she will have to conform and do some of the drudgeries both there and at home if she is to succeed. I hope you stimulate her to read and make things at home. It is wonderful that she does so well with her music.

Obviously, she is very selfish at home. Too often, you let her have her own way. See that she has a few regular jobs and conforms to necessary family regulations.

TEARS NO ANSWER

I hope you never again cry or show her you are hurt by her ways. Instead, don't hesitate to deprive her of some privilege when necessary. I don't talk; act.

Arthritis Education Week Marks 10 Years' Service To Sufferers

From May 10 to 16 the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is holding Arthritis Education Week to celebrate the completion of the first ten years of treatment services for arthritis.

Since 1949 CARS has given over 500,000 treatments to 19,000 patients in 36 centres in B.C. The Kelowna branch was formed in 1949, one of the first in the province, and since then the CARS service has been available to everyone in the area.

Miss Jocelyn Stephens, the branch's physiotherapist, gives an average of 140 treatments a month in the CARS clinic at the hospital here, or in patients' homes.

Alistair Cameron, president of the Kelowna branch says, "The aim of CARS is to stop arthritis. Although it is the oldest disease known to man, there is still no cure for it, and for the next ten years the emphasis will be on more and more research to find out what causes rheumatic disease and how its ravages can be stopped.

Early treatment, prescribed by the family doctor and given by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, advises people to visit their doctors and get proper medical advice at once if they suspect they have arthritis.

The earlier it is given, the more chance there is of saving the patient from disability which might ruin his life."

CARS is a member of the Community Chest, however a campaign for funds is being carried on this month in the outlying districts, which are served by the Kelowna branch.

Girl Still Considered "Nice" Who Lives Apart From Family

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 26, living with my parents. We have a very lovely home and I have been fortunate to have had a great many luxuries during my life.

As I have my family, a good job and a nice circle of friends here, I don't want to strike out alone for another location; but I have felt for some time that I would enjoy having a place of my own.

My parents argue that I would disgrace the family if I took the step. They say that a "nice" young woman doesn't live apart from her parents until she is married.

HAS URGE TO GO, BUT NO REASON TO

I am reluctant to break with them if it will hurt them so much. Also, since there is no legitimate reason for leaving them, I feel I might be doing more harm than good to all concerned.

However, the urge to have a life of my own still persists; and perhaps if I don't cut the cord now, I never will. I am not unhappy at home and have all the freedom I want or need. Can I please have your views on this? G. G.

PARENTS CLING TO PAST

DEAR G.G.: It appears that your parents are talking in terms of "nice girl" decorum as it was when they were young—when their own parents were still citing 19th century standards of gentility.

As of today, it is as much the rule as it is the exception, for nice young women of presumably privileged background to experiment at homemaking "on their own," after completing their formal schooling and getting a foothold in a job or professional field.

In general, these nice girls feel no need to leave town, to justify their departure from the family home. The popular procedure is to affiliate with one or two or maybe more girl friends, either known since childhood or found as classmates or room mates at prep school or college.

WESTBANK

WESTBANK — Last year's executive of the Westbank Women's Prog.-Conservative Association were returned at the delayed annual meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. F. K. Parker.

Mrs. Parker is president; Mrs. R. A. Pritchard, vice-president; Mrs. J. K. Wood, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. D. Gellatly, publicity.

The meeting was well attended and plans discussed will be put before the next meeting, scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Blackley, May 10.

Mrs. J. R. Keith entertained at "open house" in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Clifton, who celebrated her 86th birthday this week. A number of friends gathered to offer their best wishes during the afternoon. Mrs. Clifton made her home in Penitence before coming to Westbank some years ago.

POPULAR PRINT

There's no reason for the leopard to change its spots, so far as fashion is concerned. The leopard print, once a novelty, has now become a firmly integrated part of the print world. Right in the sun and cheerful in the rain is this leopard-printed cotton rain-or-shine coat. Smartly styled, it comes with its very own kerchief hat.

Courtroom Wrong Place To Settle Family Disputes

WINNIPEG (CP) — Too many cases which should be dealt with in the family bureau are going to the law courts, says Nestor C. Kohut, law graduate and trained marriage counsellor.

"The causing struggle for supremacy of legal rights results in a solution which is pragmatically bad, therapeutically terrible and essentially a hodge-podge step in a backward direction," he writes in the Manitoba Bar News.

Greater effort must be made to divert some of the cases which ultimately finish in divorce either to the family court or the family bureau, a family welfare agency, he says.

The average lawyer, he contends, listens to a story offered by a distraught husband or wife and, if it is all right legally, sends the case to the court.

"What happens in court? In order to obtain a balance of probabilities the parties exhibit every available piece of dirty linen. Relatives and friends parade in and a veritable choosing up of sides ensues. Lawyers, or too often their law students, thrust the lance in deeper by castigating, belittling, degrading and tearing apart the other party. Thus whatever feeling and love remained becomes reduced to a negative quantity."

The judge is often powerless to do other than grant a separation order. Many lawyers have come to the conclusion that taking a domestic case to court serves no useful purpose because "seldom does a true winner" emerge from it, he says.

Mr. Kohut declares that in trying ing to revive a dying marriage the lawyer is faced not with a legal case but a social problem.

"At least half the people who start divorce suits are really hoping that somebody will step in and straighten things out before it is too late."

"The legal profession is in a key position in society. In the field of domestic relations it has an almost exclusive lead to persons whose stakes, and that of society's, are high. The interest and welfare of the children in this regard is a story in itself."

Calgary Artist Uses Aluminum For Canvas

CALGARY (CP) — Mrs. Kay Rutledge is pioneering a new form of oil painting in Calgary, using aluminum sheets instead of canvas.

It started when her husband, Harry, read that pure aluminum sheet hardened by cold-rolling is suitable for oil painting. It can be cleaned and used again.

Mrs. Rutledge, who enrolled at the provincial institute of technology and art for her first formal art education last year, was anxious to try it.

The aluminum sheet is first gone over with emery paper and then cleaned with pumice. A metal primer then is applied to give a base for the paint.

Two weeks after the first sheet was prepared Mrs. Rutledge had three paintings completed. She put two of them up for sale, her first venture into the commercial field. Now she is a confirmed user of aluminum.

"It makes your colors fresher, more luminous," she said. "On canvas after a while the colors seem to get faded. On aluminum, since it's not porous, I think they will stay fresher and brighter longer."

Calgary art experts however are not yet making any final decision on the new practice.

"This will be the best test," said George Paine, manager of the Gainsborough Galleries. "I'd be a little dubious of how long it would last. No matter how well you prepare the aluminum surface the paint will not be able to grip into it as well as it can into canvas."

Canadian Sentenced For Shooting Jap

TOKYO (CP)—Peter F. Longpre, a Canadian serving with the United States Air Force, today was sentenced to 10 months imprisonment for accidentally shooting and killing a Japanese music student aboard a passing train last September.

Longpre had pleaded guilty to accidentally firing his carbine while on guard duty last Sept. 7. The bullet entered the passing train and hit Yoshiyuki Miyamura, 22, in the back. He was taken to hospital but died on the operating table.

The 15-year-old Eskimo boy, who speaks no English, arrived Saturday night aboard an RCAF plane, to be treated for ailments acquired after he and his father found themselves blown out into open water while seal hunting on the Arctic ice April 25.

The final result of his ordeal will not be known for several weeks, but doctors believe, on the basis of preliminary examinations, that both his feet will have to be amputated.

Meantime, Alece has been caught up on his eating and slowly making his way into the affection of all who care for him at the Civil Hospital here was food. His hunger — and gangrene in from his native village on the bleak eastern shore of Hudson Bay in the Port Harrison area.

Dr. J. H. Wiebe of the health department's northern health services, under whose care the Eskimo boy comes, explained to a reporter why Alece was so hungry.

Because he and his father, 43-year-old Samsok, were without food for some time during their bone-chilling voyage on the ice when they were not able to eat heavily when first rescued last week.

An air search for them had been given up and land searchers were on the point of doing the same when the two were spotted and rescued last Thursday.

Eskimo Boy May Lose Both Feet As Result Of Ordeal

OTTAWA (CP) — What Alece making his way into the affection of all who care for him at the Civil Hospital here was food. His hunger — and gangrene in from his native village on the bleak eastern shore of Hudson Bay in the Port Harrison area.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By R. JAY BECKER

(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play) South dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
♠ K764	♠ Q	♠ 9642	♠ 5
♥ A Q J 10	♥ K	♥ J 9 8 6 4	♥ Q
♦ K Q 5	♦ A	♦ Q 10 8	♦ 7
♣ J 5	♣ A	♣ K 4 2	♣ 3

The bidding:
South West North East
1♣ Pass 1♥ Pass
2♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
3NT Pass 6NT

Opening lead—seven of diamonds. It may seem paradoxical to state that there are hands where the ordinary bridge player has no trouble at all making his contract, but where a better than average dummy player falls in the same attempt.

The hand shown occurred in the match between Britain and Germany in the last European championship. The British pair with the North-South cards reached six spades and made it easily.

The German pair arrived at six notrump on the bidding sequence shown. Declarer won the diamond lead with the ace and took a heart finesse. After cashing the king and ace of spades, he took another heart finesse.

Then in succession he cashed A-K of clubs and K-Q of diamonds, bringing about this position:

NORTH		EAST
♠ 7	♠ A Q	♠ 9 6	♠ 5
♥ 10 9	♥ K	♥ J 9 8 6 4	♥ Q
♦ K 9	♦ A	♦ Q 10 8	♦ 7
♣ J 5	♣ A	♣ K 4 2	♣ 3

The German declarer would have made the contract hands down at this point had he led the ace of hearts. But misjudging the setup, and under the delusion that West's four cards consisted of 10 9 of spades and K-x of hearts, South cashed the jack of spades and threw West in the lead with a spade.

Unfortunately, West had a club to lead and East took the last two tricks with a diamond and a club to the tune of down two. The pretty scheme South had concocted didn't come off when West's odd card turned out to be a club and not a heart.

What declarer could have done after taking the spade ace was to lead a low club towards the jack. Then, if West actually had been dealt K-x-x of hearts, he would be bound to run into a squeeze when the clubs and diamonds were cashed.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

Fine aspects govern this day. It will be an excellent period in which to put over unusual ideas, launch new ventures and, generally, to advance all worthwhile goals. Be careful in personal relationships, however.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you have just entered an 8-week cycle wherein it would be advisable to press major objectives vigorously—especially those of long-range value. It will be important, however, to be conservative where finances are concerned—not only in the immediate future, but for the balance of 1959. Except for brief periods in late September and in mid-December, stars are not too generous where monetary matters are concerned.

October will be an exceptionally good period for job matters, but to try to avoid anxiety and nervous tension in November. Toward the end of December, you may receive some valuable ideas for furthering your interests in 1960. If you are single, marriage is a distinct possibility during the coming year—possibly before the end of December. Look for good travel opportunities in July.

A child born on this day will be a warm and trustworthy friend, extremely ethical in business dealings.

Planning Family Trip By Auto This Summer?

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

So you're taking the kids on a vacation trip in the car this summer?

Well, more power to you. But first let's start preparing for it now. It might take quite a while to educate the youngsters for a long auto trip.

"DO'S" AND "DON'TS"

First, let me pass on some "do's" and "don'ts" suggested by the National Safety Council. In a future column I'll suggest a few ideas for keeping the children quiet and amused during long motor trips.

It's a good idea to explain to each child that he has a responsibility to himself, to other passengers and especially to the driver. Therefore, he must follow certain worthwhile rules.

Here we go:
Lean back, sit squarely on the auto seat.

NO ROUGHHOUSING

Keep noise and activity down.

Keep hands off the door handle, the ignition key, gearshift and lights.

Never tug on the driver's arm or sit on the driver's lap. Don't lean out the window and don't put hands out the window. Don't stand on the seat or climb around.

USE TOYS PROPERLY

Don't bang toys around or dangle them out the window. Don't throw objects, even paper candy wrappers.

No lollipops or ice cream bars on sticks. A sudden bump, swerve or stop might mean an injured eye or mouth.

No large, heavy or sharp-edged toys in the car. No balloons, either.

Always get out of the car on the curb side, away from the traffic.

As you can see, there are a great many more "don'ts" than "do's". That's because the youngsters just naturally seem to do, or at least want to do, things they shouldn't.

"NO" IS NOT ENOUGH

Merely saying "No, No," when the little ones misbehave in the car isn't enough. You must make sure there is no misunderstanding about the fact that you mean business.

One word of caution: Always put your foot on the curb before you try to deal with a commotion in the back seat. Don't lose your temper, especially when driving, and insist on obedience.

Each year between 1,100 and 1,200 children car passengers are killed in each of the age groups between 0 and 4 and 5 and 14. None of us want our youngsters to be included in next year's statistics.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. F. H.: Could you please tell me what could cause pains in the neck, back and front?

Answer: Tension of both the front and back of the neck may be involved. It is well to consult your physician to make sure there is no organic cause.

Assisted In 'Mercy Killing' British Doctor Reveals He

BURTON - ON - TRENT, Eng. old general practitioner, made his Monday he assisted the "mercy" local Rotary Club.

Dr. Millard, a member of the Euthanasia Society founded by his father, Dr. Killick Millard, admitted giving a lethal drug to a "devoted Christian lady."

She found she had cancer after an operation. After telling him she had made her peace with God and settled her affairs, she asked him to give her a lethal dose.

Dr. Millard said a "strong feeling of compassion" came over him and he gave her a lethal dose of drugs and she passed away peacefully.

He added: "I have a completely clear conscience about it all."

Police refused to comment today on suggestions that Millard might be investigated or prosecuted for his action.

Dr. Leslie Wetherhead, former president of the Methodist conference, praised Millard's action. "I applaud his action — though he may be struck off the register."

FIRST PICTURE OF MISSILE LAUNCHING BASE

Reinforced Concrete Shelters Will Guard Against Supersonic Missiles

SEATTLE (AP) — Reinforced concrete shelters with 12-ton steel roofs that slide open in three seconds will house the new supersonic Bomarc intercept missiles to be installed in 14 bases or more across the United States. Two similar shelter bases are planned for Canada.

Boeing Airplane Company, maker of the 400-mile-range Bomarc, has disclosed the installation plans.

The shelters, already under construction at four U.S. bases, will be windowless, flat-roofed concrete and steel structures 60 feet long, 20 feet wide and 12 feet high. At least two bases will have 56 such buildings, the others 28 each.

Each is designed for push-button operation from remote control centers miles away. Under combat conditions the pressing of control buttons would cause the six-ton halves of the roof to roll apart quickly, even if they should be carrying twice their weight of snow in northern locations.

The missile will rise into erect position and be fired by rockets. Then the roof closes automatically. Shelters normally would be unmanned.

The defence department at Washington said the shelters are under construction at Dow Air Force Base near Bangor in Maine; Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth, Mass.; Suffolk County Air Force Base, Long Island, N.Y.; and McGuire Air Force Base, Princeton, N.J.

The shelters are also planned for these U.S. sites, the department said: Near Langley Air Force base in Virginia; Kinross Air Force Base, near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; near Municipal air field, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; near Trux Field, Madison, Wis.; near Municipal airport, Duluth, Minn.

Paine Air Force Base, near Everett, Wash.; Camp Adair, near Albany, Ore.; Travis and Cooke Air Force bases in Calif.; and Ethan Allen Air Force Base, Winooski, Vt.

Who is responsible for the protection of shipping within Vancouver harbor, but outside the city limits?

The answer wasn't known, apparently, at the time of the fire, when there was a 90-minute delay in getting aid to the stricken vessel after an engine-room explosion set it ablaze, injuring six men.

One of the men, Magnus Larsen, died in hospital last week. Another, chief engineer Per Stedman, still is in critical condition.

PROTEST DELAY The question of responsibility arose after Captain William Archer of the Ferngulf vigorously protested the delay.

Fire Chief Hugh Bird gave his explanation in a special report to city council. He said a 1955 ordinance prohibited him from sending the harbor's fireboat out to fight the blaze aboard ships.

India's Largest Project Takes Shape With Canada's Help

By RUSSELL ELMAN

KUNDHA, India (CP) — High in the scenic Nilgiri Hills of Madras state, one of India's largest power projects is rapidly taking shape with the aid of a Colombo plan gift from Canada.

Canadian and Indian engineers and a work force of 13,000 blend modern technology with primitive hand labor to harness the Kundha River basin for electricity. Three tall masonry dams, tunnels, penstocks, two powerhouses and transmission lines are being constructed.

Work at Kundha began in 1956 to meet an acute power shortage in Madras. Total cost is $70,000,000, with Canada's Colombo plan contribution of $25,000,000 financing all equipment used in the direct production of power and a 300-mile transmission system.

"In view of India's existing foreign exchange difficulties, it would not have been possible for the Madras government to build Kundha without Canadian assistance," said V. P. Appadurai, chief engineer for electricity, Madras state electricity board.

MATERIALS FROM CANADA Approximately 80 Canadian companies are supplying materials, including hydraulic control gates, penstocks, transformers and generators. Supplies are shipped from Canada to India's west coast port of Cochin and then taken by rail and road to the Kundha site, which stretches for 45 miles over rugged hills at an altitude of 3,000 to 6,500 feet.

Twenty-two Canadians are assisting installation work in close co-operation with Madras state electricity board engineers. Senior liaison man is 40-year-old Lloyd Grandy, a civil engineer employed by Montreal Engineering Company Limited.

"Kundha is a co-operative effort," he said. "We operate just as one of our own projects, seeing the job is done correctly and to our standards."

Peppy Ponies In Rehearsal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A junior dress rehearsal for Saturday's highly speculative Preakness was to be put on today at Pimlico by five of the aspiring performers.

Taking the stage in the Preakness Prep were Mrs. Halina Braunstein's Royal Orbit, Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler, Master Palynch, owned by the Haskins and Sair Stable of Winnipeg, and the King Ranch duo of Black Hills and Call the Witness.

L. Robinson's Marauder joined them for the $5,000 1-1/16-mile run, but only for the small change since he isn't eligible for the $150,000-added Preakness post-off his nose loss in the derby to Tony Lee whose owner, Fred Turner Jr., decided against a return match in the Preakness.

POTENTIAL STARTERS Seven other three-year-olds besides those in Prep are viewed as potential starters in the 1 3-16-mile Preakness. They include the second and third-place finishers in the Kentucky Derby, Sword Dancer and First Landing. Brookmeade Farm's Sword Dancer is looming as the favorite to watch.

Joe Taylor and Joe Durham, playing his first game since being optioned by St. Louis Cardinals, each rapped out a pair of hits in the opener. Taylor's first was his sixth home run of the year.

In the nightcap, Fred Besana got the fourth shutout in one week pitched by the Vancouver mound staff when he coasted to a five-hit 9-0 victory. It was his fourth straight win and second shutout of the season.

Besana, who couldn't win for losing in 1956 when he won only one victory in 14 decisions with the Mounties, lowered his spunking earned run average to .88. Durham socked his first home run for Vancouver with a mate aboard and Brooks Robinson added another two-run homer to pace Vancouver's 13-hit attack in the night game.

DETROIT (AP) — A resolution proposing a one-year waiting period before a professional hockey player can be reinstated as an amateur will be put before this week's Canadian Amateur Hockey Association meeting by the British Columbia association.

The resolution, one of several drawn up at a weekend meeting of the BCAHA here, says the move would discourage amateur clubs from attempting to make deals with professionals and going beyond their financial means in doing so.

The BCAHA meeting will be held in Detroit May 16-20.

Another resolution asks that no professional club be allowed to operate in a city where a senior amateur club is operating without first giving notice of intent.

Leo G. Atwell, BCAHA president, said arrangements for a visit to Canada of Japanese Olympic athletes to the winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., will be made at the BCAHA meeting.

Mr. Atwell will lead a delegation of B.C. officials to the BCAHA meeting. W. J. Anderson of Trail, B.C., secretary-treasurer, and Dr. M. J. Butler of Kelowna, first vice-president, also will attend.

The resolution, one of several drawn up at a weekend meeting of the BCAHA here, says the move would discourage amateur clubs from attempting to make deals with professionals and going beyond their financial means in doing so.

The BCAHA meeting will be held in Detroit May 16-20.

Another resolution asks that no professional club be allowed to operate in a city where a senior amateur club is operating without first giving notice of intent.

Leo G. Atwell, BCAHA president, said arrangements for a visit to Canada of Japanese Olympic athletes to the winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., will be made at the BCAHA meeting.

Mr. Atwell will lead a delegation of B.C. officials to the BCAHA meeting. W. J. Anderson of Trail, B.C., secretary-treasurer, and Dr. M. J. Butler of Kelowna, first vice-president, also will attend.
